Consultancy

Hassle-free, turnkey projects

If you've got a large site or multiple sites, our experienced team can design the perfect digital signage estate for you. We'll then specify the most appropriate hardware and install it, all within your specified budget and timescale.

Problem-solving and innovation

We're at our best when businesses like yours come to us with problems they want solving – even if there's not an obvious link to digital signage.

We'll use our creativity, technical knowledge and experience to come up with cost-effective ways to solve them.

^ Attention-grabbing LED wall installed in AO's London office reception

^ Range of digital signage displays specified by Saturn for car showroom

^ Turnkey project to add bespoke kiosks, digital menus and large display to cinema foyer

^ LED wall display for a corporate meeting room

^ Robust outdoor totem designed by Saturn

Hardware

Great value displays, enclosures and more

We've been around for 25+ years, so we know which kit performs best, and what to recommend for different budgets and requirements.

We can supply everything you'll need for your digital signage estate, and because we regularly buy in bulk, we can often supply it cheaper than anyone else.

We specialise in large displays and can design, build and install LED walls (curved and flat), and video walls. We can also design and set up corporate digital signage and video conferencing systems.

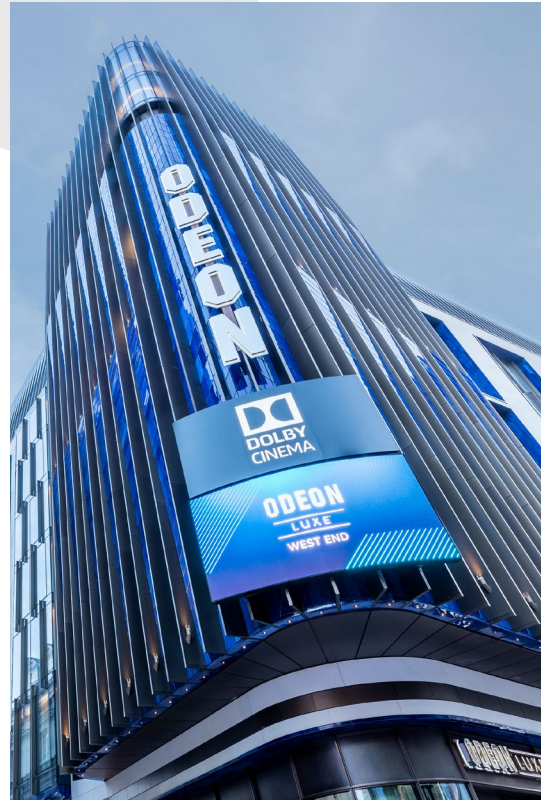

Installation

Hassle-free installation across the UK

Our team of qualified installers operate right across the UK and Ireland. They install all types of hardware from digital kiosks to outdoor LED walls and everything in between.

We'll work with you to create a mutually-agreed plan of action, liaise with the relevant people at your end, then make sure everything is installed and set up properly for you.

We'll also make sure you're trained and confident on how to use the equipment before we leave.

Support

Technical support

We have a fast-response technical helpdesk which operates seven days a week, (9am-10pm) across the UK.

Our helpdesk team aims to troubleshoot and fix hardware problems, and to provide software user support. We can support most mainstream and proprietary digital signage software platforms including Samsung's MagicINFO.

On average, our helpdesk resolves 70% of issues remotely without the need for an engineer call-out.

“The technician we dealt with was brilliant. Within less than an hour, he'd checked the equipment over, diagnosed and fixed the problem, and given us some tips on how to avoid the same issue occurring in the future. We were really impressed with how easy it was to get everything sorted, especially considering we'd reported the issue outside of standard office hours.”

Bespoke

Whether you're problem-solving, improving on existing systems or hardware, or simply want something bespoke for your organisation, we can help.

Bespoke software development

Our experienced in-house software development team can create custom applications or integrate third party software/data to make your digital signage displays smarter.

They can also create touchscreen user interfaces and generate bespoke analytics.

Custom enclosures & engineering services

We design and build screen enclosures, mounts and LED wall frameworks from scratch.

Alternatively, we can adapt existing designs to deliver the aesthetics and/or functionality you want. We can also provide a range of engineering services to work around any practical issues you might have.
